RACE AGAINST ACE

by

Laura Roso

"A seamless mix of mystery, drama, and intrigue!"

– Reader's Favourite, 5 Stars

Genre:

Young adult/ children's science fiction adventure-mystery, science experiments, secrets and suspense- a must-read for lovers of A Wrinkle in Time by Madeleine L' Engle and The Mysterious Benedict Society by Trenton Lee Stewart.

Why you need it on your shelves:

This novel is a compelling addition to any bookshop's collection, particularly in the children's and young adult sections. The novel addresses contemporary issues such as friendships, bullying, and risk-taking, offering readers both entertainment and valuable life lessons.

About the work:

Race Against Ace is a thrilling blend of mystery, drama, and sci-fi, perfect for young readers. Laura Roso crafts a compelling, character-driven story about Billy, a boy whose life takes a dramatic turn when he and his friends create the first 'perfect' human. As secrets unravel and chaos ensues, Billy's friendship with Ace shines as the heart of the story. With strong friendships, unexpected twists, and a dash of adventure, this book is a fantastic pick for middle-grade and young-adult audiences.

About the author:

Laura Roso is a dedicated and passionate educator and performing arts specialist. She is currently working as a secondary school drama teacher, inspiring students to reach their full potential, using their imagination and creativity. As a drama teacher, Laura has written numerous scripts and directed many productions, which has enhanced her ability to be an exceptional storyteller. Her wealth of teaching experience has given her plenty of insight into the interests of her target audience for Race Against Ace. As well as teaching, Laura is actively involved in the performing arts industry. Her entertainment career to date includes working as a Deputy Cruise Director for P&O Cruises and hosting events such as the Wakakirri National Story-Dance Festival. She has taken part in other events that include the AFL Grand Final Parade, Moomba Festival and Vision Australia's Carols by Candlelight. She has also appeared in numerous television commercials and programs. Laura's vision in publishing her first novel (Race Against Ace) is to inspire children to read. She hopes the story's message and funny, quirky, yet realistic characters will appeal to young readers everywhere.
